Community, compassion, and resilience are guiding principles that take on heightened significance in the current era of global conflict and political uncertainty. Recognizing the beauty and invaluable assets found in UCSB's rich cultural diversity, we encourage reflection upon our campus' Principles of Community as a means to navigate these challenging times. It is crucial to embrace our differences, fostering a spirit of curiosity rather than distrust and promoting empathy over judgment. Through these collective efforts, we can work towards creating a more resilient and understanding community. Remember, we are all in this together.

In community,

The Office of International Students & Scholars
In light of recent global events, please remember

UCSB’s Principles of Community

• We affirm the intrinsic dignity in each of us.
• We seek to cultivate understanding among the diverse parts of our whole.
• We believe in every individual’s right to freedom of expression, including the ability to disagree with and/or counter another’s point of view, limited only by University regulations governing time, place, and manner.
• We hold one another accountable to the highest standards of civility, respect, and decency in all of our interactions.
• We do not tolerate acts of bigotry, harassment, or other harm to individuals by anyone in our community on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, sexual orientation, sex, gender, age, physical or mental ability, size, language, religious beliefs, political affiliation, gender identity, service in the uniformed services, citizenship, pregnancy, medical condition, genetic information, ancestry, marital status, or national origin among other personal characteristics. We affirm that the responsibility for opposing such behavior lies with all members of the community whenever they encounter such behavior.
• We celebrate our differences and recognize and honor diversity as vital to the excellence of our University.
• We strive individually and collectively to make UC Santa Barbara an inclusive environment in which to live, work and learn.
• We affirm that UC Santa Barbara, as a public institution, extends these Principles of Community through public service work.
• We affirm our individual and collective responsibility to uphold in words and actions the highest values of Scholarship, Leadership and Citizenship.
New Scholarship Opportunity for International African & Asian Students in STEM!

The Office of International Students and Scholars is delighted to share that we have recently received a generous scholarship donation to share with our international community! Multiple scholarships will be dispersed for eligible recipients, up to $5,000 each.

To be eligible you must meet the following requirements:

- Be an undergraduate or graduate student earning a degree from UC Santa Barbara
- Be from a country in Africa or Asia on an F-1 or J-1 Visa
- Be in a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) major
- Have at least a 2.5 GPA

Due to limited funds, submitting an application does not guarantee you will receive a scholarship. All applications will be reviewed by a committee in OISS for eligibility.

International Student VENT Circle

This weekly social circle provides a casual and safe space for international students to connect and support one another. International students will have the opportunity to discuss (or vent) about their daily challenges (e.g. belonging, homesickness, academic difficulty, challenges related to visa, financial stress, fitting-in) and so much more. This is also a space for students to recognize their strengths and receive guidance and resources from other participants and co-leaders.

Wellness Resources

OISS acknowledges the far-reaching effects of global political conflict, which weigh heavily on us at this time. We understand how concerned many students and scholars must feel, especially those with friends and family in affected areas. We want to make sure you are aware of some support systems on campus.

- Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) promotes the emotional well-being of students through individual and group psychotherapy, crisis intervention, and stress management services.
- Mental Health Peers are current students trained to help other students develop tools to better manage stressors related to school as well as relationships to family, friends, romantic partners, and roommates.
- Student Mental Health Coordination Services (SMHCS) is a readily accessible single point of contact for individuals concerned about a student in distress.
- International Student VENT (Validating, Empowering, Navigating Together) Circle is a weekly social circle that provides a casual and safe space for international students to connect and support one another.
- Academic & Staff Assistance Program (ASAP) supports the health and well-being of faculty, staff, and family members. They offer confidential short-term therapy, consultation, wellness workshops, and assistance with threat management.
- Student Health Service (SHS) provides comprehensive and integrated healthcare services that treat illnesses efficiently, promote physical and psychological well-being, and enable students to have a healthy and successful University experience.
- Basic Needs Resources assist you with all aspects of your basic needs, including (but not limited to) food, finances, and housing.
- The Office of International Students and Scholars is always here to offer support as well. There are several ways you can get in touch with an OISS advisor, which are detailed on our website.
We hope you enjoyed this issue of the OISS Newsletter. Past newsletters can be viewed on the OISS website.
